Subject: Public Improvements Within the Public Streets Rights of Ways of:

Flying Horse North Filing No. 6
El Paso County, Colorado
Entech Job No. 251790

Dear Mr. Doyle:

Representatives of Entech Engineering, Inc. (Entech) periodically visited the site and performed field density testing during the public improvement construction processes. Testing was performed in general compliance with the frequency indicated in the El Paso County Engineering Criteria Manual. Results of field density tests have previously been provided. Field density tests were taken by Entech personnel from May 13, 2026 to September 1, 2026. Results generally indicate densities which meet those specified in the El Paso County Engineering Criteria Manual.

Representatives of Entech also periodically observed the subgrade soil types and asphalt material placed for the street improvements. These materials appeared to be in general compliance with the specifications presented in the El Paso County Engineering Criteria Manual.

We trust this has provided you with the information you require. If you have any questions or need additional information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Respectfully Submitted,

ENTECH ENGINEERING, INC.

Under ECM 5.10.6.B: please include the following language "the site and adjacent properties (as affected by work performed under the County permit) are stable with respect to settlement and subsidence, sloughing of cut and fill slopes, revegetation or other ground cover, and that the improvements (public improvements, common development improvements, site grading and paving) meet or exceed the minimum design requirements."
