

Road Impact Fee Acknowledgement Form

Property in the unincorporated area of the El Paso County that receives Land Use Approval either in a public hearing or administratively, is subject to the payment of Road Impact Fees. After December 31, 2024, the fee is paid for new residential and non-residential uses and structures and expansions of non-residential uses and structures. For detailed information on the program see the El Paso County Road Impact Fee webpage at publicworks.elpasoco.com/road-impact-fees/.

Land Use Approval is defined as an approval or permit issued for a new use, new structure, or expansion of an existing use or structure (not to include expansion of single-family detached homes) on a parcel of property in unincorporated El Paso County that generates new trips for such parcel. Examples include, but are not limited to building permits, access permits, driveway permits, site plans, site development plans, special use approvals, and variance of use approvals.
