RE: Acknowledgement and Agreement for Colorado Springs Utilities to Self-Serve Electric Service to Its Williams Creek Generating Station and Appurtenant Facilities

Dear Ms. Marks;

This letter confirms the agreement between Colorado Springs Utilities (“Utilities”) and Mountain View Electric Association, Inc. (“MVEA”) with respect to Utilities’ intention to self-serve its station power (as “station power” is defined in PJM Interconnection, L.L.C., 94 FERC ¶ 61,251 (2001) (“PJM II”)) needs at Utilities’ Williams Creek Generating Station (“WCGS”) which is to be located at 10732 Irradiance Drive, Fountain, Colorado 80817.

Both Utilities and MVEA acknowledge that WCGS is located within the certificated service territory of MVEA; however, they also acknowledge and agree to the importance and usefulness of Utilities’ self-serving the electric load at WCGS. Utilities and MVEA reached a similar agreement in the past for Utilities to self-serve the electric load at its nearby Williams Creek Pump Station.

The parties recognize that under existing FERC and Colorado precedents, a utility may self-supply its own generation facility’s station power needs either with on-site generation or remotely over transmission. The parties further recognize that Utilities’ right to self-serve in MVEA’s certificated territory does not extend beyond self-service at Utilities’ generation facilities, as contemplated under San Isabel Electric Association, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission, 2021 CO 36 and Norton Energy Storage, L.L.C., 95 FERC ¶ 61, 476 at 62, 701-03 (2001).

Utilities and MVEA also acknowledge that MVEA has certain facilities in close proximity to WCGS. Utilities and MVEA agree to work cooperatively to ensure MVEA has the necessary access to such facilities.

If the statements above are in accordance with your understanding, please indicate your approval by executing below and then returning a copy to Bill Bolch via email at bbolch@csu.org.
